Fresh & Easy Careers Job Interview Preparation Guide.

Question # 1

What is a career?

Answer:-

The progress and actions taken by a person throughout a lifetime, especially those related to that person's occupations. A career is often composed of the jobs held, titles earned and work accomplished over a long period of time, rather than just referring to one position.

Question # 3

What is a personal trainer?

Answer:-

People who hit the gym regularly to either lose weight or gain muscle need someone to supervise their workout. This is where a personal trainer comes in. You will design a training program for your client to follow. If he fails to follow the program, then the problem is with him. In other words, you will devise a workout plan, let the client do all the dirty work and lifting, and get paid regardless if he follows the plan to the letter or not.

Question # 4

What is a photographer?

Answer:-

With the advent of digital cameras, photography has become an easy, yet high paying job. All you have to do is invest in the right equipment and learn the ins and outs of the camera in order to maximize its potential. Workshops and seminars for learning photography techniques and secrets abound everywhere. You can even check out online tutorials. For those with a natural feel for cameras, you can even perfect your stuff through simple trial and error. After all, no film is being wasted and you can simply delete pictures that are below standard.

Question # 5

What is the job of a songwriter?

Answer:-

For those adept in music, being a songwriter can definitely help pay the bills. You do not even need to know the technical side of music, as a lot of musicians are known to play things by ear. Some do not even know how to read a musical note. But for those who are really good, a little inspiration is all that is needed to complete and finalize a song. Music artists can then use this for commercial release. If it proves to be popular, you can expect to earn royalties for several years.

Question # 6

What is the job of a massage therapist?

Answer:-

Imagine a work environment where soothing music continuously plays in the background and aromatic incense or oil heightening the ambiance of the place. That is the exact atmosphere that massage therapists experience every single working day. They are paid to relieve the stress of clients, so it is important that they feel stress-free as well. Otherwise, the tension might transfer to the customer they are massaging. All you need to become one is a license after attending a massage therapy program from a recognized center. Starting salary is around $24,200, but once you become an expert, expect to earn as much as $51,400.

Question # 7

What is the job of a tour guide?

Answer:-

You go around several places and point the most interesting spots to tourists, explaining its uniqueness and significance along the way. This job is particularly appealing to those good in dealing with other people, along with the gift of gab. You will have to answer questions that have been asked thousands of times. Probably the hardest part is how to keep things fresh for your own sake.

Question # 8

What is the job of a power plant operator?

Answer:-

It is Homer Simpson's job, so how hard could it be? Though it entails a lot of responsibility, a power plant is responsible for the electricity of millions of households and businesses, all it requires is a simple flick of the switches and the plant system will do the work for you. Only a vocational diploma is needed to become a power plant operator, though they do require some proficiency in math and science.

Question # 9

What is the job of a computer software engineer?

Answer:-

This job should be included in the easiest and best paying jobs in the world only if you are a geek and computer nerd. But for those who are indeed adept with high tech toys and gadgets, this job is a dream. Social interaction is highly limited and all you have to do is sit in front of the computer and create the code for the latest software or games. You can actually do this on your own, but if you prefer to work for software development companies, you will be expected to have a degree in computer programming or computer engineering. The job pays really well and you can even hit the jackpot if you get to invent a program or game that everybody would love.

Question # 10

What is an artist?

Answer:-

Artists can earn substantial amounts depending on how good they really are. Some just hang out in public places and offer to draw a caricature of people for a fee. Others do more serious stuff, like painting and sculpture, which are then sold to art lovers and collectors. You may have a hard time at the start, but once you have broken through, the money will start flowing in.

Question # 11

What is the job of a freelance writer?

Answer:-

Freelance writers can work from the comfort of their own homes. They have control over what jobs to accept, meaning those that require immediate deadlines can be rejected. You can earn as much money as you need by simply accepting as many jobs as possible. If you desire a little rest, all you have to do is pick only the jobs that you need for the week. You get to practice your passion in writing even as you get a lot of free time to do other stuff.

Question # 12

What is an optometrist?

Answer:-

Optometrists are tasked to help clients achieve better and clearer vision. You diagnose the problem and advise solutions on how to improve the client's eyesight. Eyeglasses or contact lenses may be provided. It really sounds harder than it actually is, as there are special apparatus' and gadgets that are used to help an optometrist's job. These devices will actually do all the work for you.

Question # 13

What is a video game player?

Answer:-

You can get paid for playing the video games you love if you can find a sponsor. Major online game companies hire expert players to talk to other players and assist them in achieving higher levels in the games. The downside to this job is that the hours can be long, you may have to play as many as 16 hours per day and since you are acting as an independent contractor, there are no employee benefits. On the plus side, you get to work from home, you may get the newest versions of the game to test and you can make as much as $50,000 per year.

Question # 14

What is the job and salary of a dog walker?

Answer:-

Although this may seem like a silly job reserved for teens or college students in the summer, it can pay as much as $50 per hour. Walking large dogs through congested city streets is not easy and people who are elderly, disabled, out of town or just lazy are willing to pay a premium to have someone else exercise their beloved pets. Since most cities require pet owners to clean up after their dogs, the pooper scooper is probably the worst part of the job, or maybe the worst part is trying to keep multiple leashes from tangling so you do not fall on your face.

Question # 15

What is the job and salary of a sanitation engineer?

Answer:-

Trash collectors have earned the title of sanitation engineers. Although it sounds better than garbage collector, the job is basically the same. No special training is required and salaries range from $35,000 to $100,000 per year.

Question # 16

What is the job of a secret shopper?

Answer:-

Although legitimate mystery shopper jobs can be difficult to find, people who love to shop and eat at restaurants will adore this job. Mystery or secret shoppers are assigned to stores and restaurants to report on their consumer experience. Some employers provide you cash to spend and allow shoppers to keep the merchandise. Some shoppers must return the merchandise, but get paid a fee for each job. Emails offering secret shopper jobs are mostly scams so check through sources like employment agencies and department store HR departments for the real deal.

Question # 17

How much a gastroenterology can earn?

Answer:-

Gastroenterologist can earn as much as $275,000 per year for work such as a colonoscopy or invasive prostate exam. Though the job can become repetitive performing the same procedure and routine every day, especially one that most people despise and dread, a career as a gastroenterology focusing on the digestive system can be worth it for an individual searching for an easy job that pays very well.

Question # 18

What is the job and salary of plumbers?

Answer:-

Training and licensing is required for plumbers in most states. While the job has a few downsides, like unclogging toilets and sewer lines, the upside is the pay. The average journeyman plumber makes about $50,000 per year and master plumbers can make more than twice that amount.

Question # 19

What is the job and salary of food service professionals?

Answer:-

Short order cooks, dishwashers and professional servers are always in demand. While these jobs do not pay as well as some others, most employers are willing to adjust work schedules to fit the employee's needs. This is the reason many aspiring actors and actresses choose to work in restaurants.

Question # 20

What is an independent sales representative?

Answer:-

Companies contract with independent sales representatives to distribute their products. There are usually no educational or training requirements and start-up costs are fairly low. Jobs are available with companies that sell everything from environmentally friendly cleaning products to lingerie and sexual aids. The contractor must buy supplies like samples and catalogs, but no inventory is needed.

Question # 21

What is the job of housekeeper/companion and how are they paid?

Answer:-

Many elderly people do not require medical or personal care assistance but need help with household chores, shopping and transportation. Eldercare companions may read to their clients, play games or assemble puzzles, or simply provide companionship and conversation. No special training is required for housekeeper/companion jobs. In some cases companions may liaise with family members and discuss ways to make the client's life easier or more comfortable. Pay for these jobs are usually around $10.00 per hour.

Question # 22

What is the job of crime scene cleaning specialist or hazmat technician?

Answer:-

These jobs are similar and both require training. While crime scene cleaners deal with potentially hazardous biological materials like blood, urine and feces, hazmat technicians clean up and dispose of hazardous, sometimes explosive, chemicals and materials like asbestos. Workers are required to wear special protective clothing and job sites may be inspected by government agencies. While hazmat technicians are in demand everywhere, crime scene cleaners usually find more employment opportunities in urban areas.

Question # 23

What is the job and salary of test subject lab rat?

Answer:-

If you like to live on the edge, this job may be for you. Test subjects are also known as lab rats and their job is to act as guinea pigs for drugs and other products that have not yet been approved for use by humans. The drugs can have serious side effects and can adversely affect health and longevity. However it pays well, about $3000 per month and there is almost no work involved. It may not have the thrill of sky diving, but risk takers could find this job appealing.

Question # 24

What is the job and salary of romance novelist or online eBook publisher?

Answer:-

It can be difficult for writers to get their work published, but romance novels are easier to sell than other types of books. The plot lines are formulaic, and if you can write about steamy sexual encounters (without getting too graphic) this may be the perfect way to start a career writing fiction. Publishers of romance novels, like Harlequin and Silhouette, usually pay an advance against royalties of up to $5,000 if your work is accepted. Since these companies publish dozens of novels each month you can earn a nice, steady income.

Question # 25

What is the job of child care providers?

Answer:-

Training and licensing requirements for child care providers vary between states and are often dependent on the number and ages of the children for whom care is provided. Generally, no training or license is required for providers who keep one or two children.

Facilities that provide child care in the evening or nighttime hours often charge more since night care is harder to find than day care. Since child care is a tax deductible expense, providers must report their income to the IRS or risk tax penalties. Income depends on geographical area and services offered by the provider.
